Combined Test – Dressage and ShowJumping Competition – Sunday, August 24

A Combined Test is a fun and approachable way for riders to gain experience in two phases of Eventing — Dressage and ShowJumping — without the cross-country portion.

- Dressage Test Portion: Begins at 8:00 AM, starting with the lowest levels and will continue progressively through the levels.
- ShowJumping Test Portion: Takes place at least 1 hour after each rider's dressage test. Jumping will take place on the large grass ring and will be a full course.

How it works:

- Dressage is scored in penalty points (lower is better!).
- Show jumping penalties (such as knocked rails, refusals, or time faults) are added to the dressage score.
- 🏆 The rider with the lowest combined score wins their division!

You must provide a copy of the certificate or letter when requested.

Horses that have exemption letters must provide a log of temperatures for the 7 days prior to the show when requested.

You must report any horse with an elevated temperature to the show office. If the show office is closed, contact the Show Manager. The show organizers and Amberlea will enact the Bio Security – Sick Horse Protocol.

Heat Stress in Equines

The most important means of dissipating heat for a horse is the evaporation of sweat. Therefore, humidity can become a more significant consideration than temperature.

Prevention of heat stress/stroke:

- Pre-cool equines by hosing them to lower demands on the equine's cooling systems while they work.
- Abbreviate warm-up times.
- After exercise, cool the equine by hosing with cold water, place in shaded area, use fans on the equine,
- Encourage hydration of the equine with cool, clean water and electrolytes.

Signs of equine heat stress/stroke may include the following:

- High Temperature 41-43C (105-107F)
- Rapid breathing/rapid pulse
- Stumbling, weakness, depression
- Refusal to eat or work
- Dry skin and dehydration.
- In severe cases, an equine may collapse or go into convulsions or a coma

Treatment for heat stress/stroke:

- Call a veterinarian
- Run cold water over the entire body of the equine. May need to be hosed with 2 hoses for 20 to minutes.
- Place the equine in the shade, preferably in a grassy area and not on pavement or dark-coloured ground.
- If there is no breeze, use a fan
- Allow the equine to drink water to offset dehydration.
- Electrolytes may also be given orally.

Air Quality and Equines

Competitors should monitor their equines closely and retire from competition if symptoms of respiratory distress occur. This is particularly competitors with high-risk equines. High-risk equines include older and younger equines and equines with pre-existing respiratory conditions.

Common Signs of Respiratory Distress

- Respiratory rate remaining over 30 breaths per minute at rest (normal rate is 12-20 per minute).
- Shortness of breath with possible wheezing sounds.
- Nostrils obviously flaring and anxious expression.
- Very labored breathing with exaggerated movement of chest wall and flanks.
- Possible repetitive, deep cough.
- Possible nasal discharge.

Call the on-call vet if you suspect an equine is experiencing respiratory distress. Or their own vet.
